D. Current Business

1. Dog Park Update

Bob Martin has continued to be working on the dog park and gaining support and donations. He estimates the whole project to cost around $17,000, with the fence itself costing approximately $10,000. They had received bids from different fence companies with Red Bluff Fence being the lowest. Greg Cohen, who has joined the dog park group, has wrote a letter to the casino asking for a donation. New ideas for fundraising are being considered and the Red Bluff Daily News and local radio stations will be advertising the project in hopes of gaining more support.

"The City of Red Bluff is an Equal Opportunity Provider"

2. Hyzer Ryderz Update

Ryan Keebler was present at the meeting to speak on behalf of the group. It was suggested by the commission that Ryan and the group mark down on the map where they would like to put the alternate sleeves. After marking them out they could then bring the map back to show it to the commission and TAC to see if there was any concern with where the new sleeves would be. Richard Bourne volunteered to sit down with Ryan and Brandon Grissom, the original founder of the disc golf course, and talk to them about their group.

3. Monthly Recreation Report

Amanda Bline reported that softball was just about done with it's first half and that the Summer Funzone was scheduled to start on June 16th at Bidwell School. She also reported that the pool had opened on June 9th and had seen good attendance. Richard Bourne asked about the pool's closing date, where Bruce Henz reported that it was scheduled to close on July 18th but may be able to stay open longer due to a private donation that may be made. Bruce also reported that the Triton swim team will be using the pool until the Red Bluff High School pool is done being renovated. Amanda Bline also reported that her last day with the department would be on June 20th and after that time she would be starting a new job at a different location.
