4.3 Leaks at Restaurant

City staff inspected the restaurant during the last rain event and found no evidence of active leaks. Inspection consisted of exposing ceiling tiles, walking the roof and “widow’s walk”, and upstairs with emphasis around windows. Water stains in acoustic ceiling tiles and lenses of ceiling lights from past leaks were found dry. No evidence of water penetration within the open wall cavities and under sills of windows was found. Ceiling tiles were changed and lenses were cleaned. Plastic sheeting was replaced over the southern exposure windows of upstairs, trim around “widow’s walk” door was repaired from vandalism, drains were cleared of leaves, and additional caulking was applied to various potential sources of leaks. Staff will continue to monitor during rain events.
